

HIGH EFFICIENCY OPTICAL DEVICES

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 Optical devices according to the present invention include a multilayer optical film in which at least one of the layers comprises an oriented birefringent polymer. The multilayer optical film exhibits low absorptivity and can reflect light approaching at shallow angles as well as normal to the film.